Passive Voice

In a passive sentence, the subject does not do the action. The subject receives the action. Passive voice is used when the person or thing doing the action is unknown, unimportant, or obvious — or when the focus is on the result or the object of the action.

Examples:

- Passive: The book was read by Maria. → (The book receives the action.)
- Active: Maria read the book. → (Maria does the action.)

Tense	Formula	Passive Voice	Active Voice
Present Simple	am / is / are + V3	The homework is checked by the teacher.	The teacher checks the homework.
Past Simple	was / were + V3	The window was broken by the ball.	The ball broke the window.
Present Continuous	am / is / are + being + V3	A pizza is being delivered now.	Someone is delivering a pizza now.
Past Continuous	was / were + being + V3	The chairs were being moved .	Workers were moving the chairs.
Present Perfect	have / has + been + V3	The test has been finished .	The students have finished the test.
Past Perfect	had + been + V3	The keys had been found .	She had found the keys.
Future Simple	will + be + V3	The project will be completed by Friday.	They will complete the project by Friday.
Modal Verbs	modal + be + V3	The room should be cleaned .	You should clean the room.

✓ Common Reasons to Use Passive Voice:

1. We don't know who did the action
→ The window was broken. (We don't know who broke it.)
2. The person who did it isn't important
→ The homework was collected. (We care more about the homework than who collected it.)
3. The focus is on the result, not the doer
→ The vaccine was developed in record time. (The vaccine is the focus.)
4. It sounds more formal or polite
→ A mistake was made. (Instead of "You made a mistake.")
5. The doer is obvious
→ He was arrested. (By the police — obvious)
